Phuket, also called "The Pearl of the Andaman Sea," is located approximately 862 kilometers south of Bangkok. Phuket is the largest island in Thailand, which is full of natural resources -rocky peninsular, limestone cliffs, white powdery beaches, tranquil broad bays and tropical in-land forests-, that contribute to the fame and popularity of Phuket as one of the most beautiful resort islands in the world. Phuket is only 1 hour 20 minute by plane to the INTERSPEECH 2014 in Singapore. We hope that all the participants in the Oriental COCOSDA 2014 are stimulated by the academic communication as well as the Pearl of the Andaman Sea.
